Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

2. Claims 12-18 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Habisreiter et al (DE 10219276.6).

Habisreiter teaches the molding tool (14) having coupling means wherein the contact surface has sealing means (28), and contact means (29), and means for applying traction (35, 36).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Habisreitingner et al (DE 10219276.6) in view of Seres (6432350)

Habisreitingner teaches the claimed invention as shown above. Habisreitingner fails to teach air permeable contact means having a surface.

Seres teaches metal porous members (74) and in particular sintered metal porous members (214) that are used to allow for gas to pass through and providing support for the surface to prevent deformation.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Habisreitingner with contact means as taught by Seres for providing support to the product and still allowing gas to pass through.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Walker (4571320), Barrett (4604026), Schad (5112558), Vismara (5304050), Brown (5935511), Herbst (6325955), and Shiotani (6485285).
